How to buy a bridal gown from your sofa.

1. Have someone measure your bust, waist and hips. This will be used to determine which size you require.

Sizes differ between designers so please check this carefully before purchasing. It is the norm to be a different size on the bust, waist and hips. To ensure the gown fits you need to find a dress that will fit the biggest measurement.

For example:
Bust size 12
Waist size 10
Hips size 8

We would always recommend you order to fit the largest measurement which in this scenario is a size 12.

You can always alter dresses that are larger than required to 2 sizes smaller and in some circumstances, depending on the dress even smaller.

If you measure exactly the same size as on the dress measurement chart we would recommend going a size up to allow for standard industry tolerances that may make the dress feel too tight. It is easier to take down than let out.

2. Review the dresses online and check your measurements against the size chart.
3. Send us a screenshot of your 5 favourite gowns.
4. Choose how you would like to say 'YES' to your dream dress!
